Based on a complex query submitted using Pro-Cite bibliographic software and the Z39.50 protocol, this list of citations was compiled by searching the Library of Congress online catalog for relevant publications. Because of the limitations inherent in any online catalog search, do not rely on this document as a comprehensive or authoritative list of recent materials in the Library of Congress collections. The list is intended to give the reader only an idea of the wealth of materials which may be available for consultation. Search the Library's catalog for a more complete description of the status and availability of each item at: <http://catalog.loc.gov>.

If you would like this list sent to you by email whenever it is updated, please contact : jzellers@loc.gov and ask to receive information about the Africana Bibliographic Alert Service – Eastern Africa and Western Indian Ocean (ABAS-EAIO).

LC Call Number: HG3881.5.W57

LC Control Number: 2004620126

"Using recently completed "poverty maps" for Cambodia, Ecuador, and Madagascar, the authors simulate the impact on poverty of transferring an exogenously given budget to geographically defined subgroups of the population according to their relative poverty status. They find large gains from targeting smaller administrative units, such as districts or villages. But these gains are still far from the poverty reduction that would be possible had the planners had access to information on household level income or consumption. The results suggest that a useful way forward might be to combine fine geographic targeting using a poverty map with within-community targeting mechanisms. This paper--a product of the Poverty Team, Development Research Group--is part of a larger effort in the group to develop tools for the analysis of poverty and income distribution"--World Bank web site.
